1976 The Cornerstone Year . . .

CORNERSTONE (kor-n ə r-ston)n 1: a stone forming a part of the corner of a wall, usually lying at its foundation. specif: such a stone laid at the formal inauguration of the erection of a building, usually inscribed with the date, and often hollowed out to receive records, documents and relics 2. the event, fact or thing that forms the principal foundation or support upon which an achievement is based, or from which a development makes its beginning.

1 Three new cornerstones were laid at Arsenal Technical High School during this bi-centennial year. A body of 5,000 pupils and teachers witnessed the progress of a program that will bring the buildings on the campus to a total of 15—old and new—dedicated to the education of present and future generations.

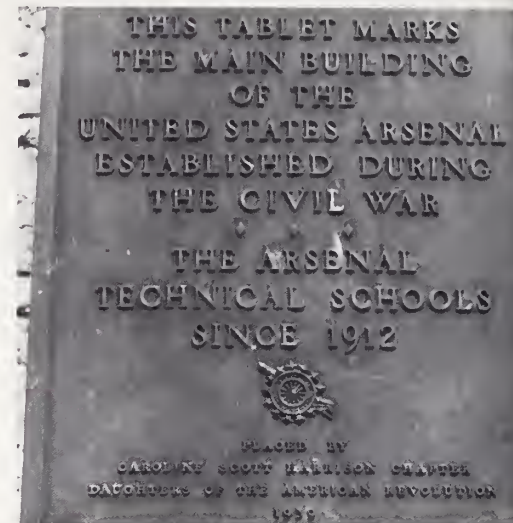

On what shall we build? What will give strength to the structure of our lives? What have we to give so that future generations will know what we were?

We have written the answer with our daily lives.

2 Tech pupils in 1976 are like those first ones in 1912; they are concerned with building a future. They need a cornerstone on which to build. If 1976 is different from 1912, one reason is that young people today are more independent in their seeking because they want a new foundation for their lives. One foundation for a good life is self-development. And the opportunity for it was here this year.

May Techites be courageous in their continued search.

May 1976, the bi-centennial year, be remembered as the year of the new cornerstone.

Ground Breaking

May 22, 1975 was a day of excitement with ground breaking for the new Auditorium, Instructional Media Center, and Girls' Gymnasium.

The day started with breakfast, the raising of a garrison flag, a cannon salute, and then moved on to reveille and the ground breaking ceremonies. Mayor Lugar, Superintendent Karl Kalp, State Superintendent Harold Negley, Principal A. Ray Reed, School Board President Paul Lewis, Denver Jordan, former student; and President of SAO Julie Lewis were present.

Afterwards retreat was sounded and refreshments were served.

The date was also Supreme Day. Honors were presented to outstanding pupils who have shown achievement at Tech.

Construction

What's new? Construction.

Returning to school in September, pupils noticed the Portable was missing; they had to find their way through a maze between Woodruff and campus; the sidewalk north of the cafeteria had been moved and narrowed; fences had risen across campus, and the student parking lot was on the other side of Oriental.

Along with this, big yellow monsters, commonly known as bulldozers, had moved in; fences, foundations and the resemblances of buildings had sprouted.

In about another year Tech will have grown to 15 buildings. Along with the buildings will come dressing rooms, stage craft classes, a first aid office, lecture rooms, and reflecting ceiling panels in the Auditorium.

The Girls' Gymnasium/Natatorium will house a swimming pool, laundry center, and two volleyball courts.

In the Instructional Media Center there will be a new bookstore, a lobby, a computer seminar, and a new library, with reflecting panels as a special feature.

The Boys' Gymnasium will be ready for action with new lockers and showers installed. The old Girls' Gymnasium will become a career center with a beauty shop, a barber shop, laundry and dry cleaning labs, and lecture rooms.

If you think this is a lot, it's only a partial list.

Techites, be patient because you have about another year to wait.

Homecoming commemorates Bicentennial

The night of September 26 was a night of victory and defeat. It was the night of Homecoming when Varsity Football Team fought it out with Chatard, Tech Marching Band presented musical numbers, the senior roll rooms competed in the float contest, and a Homecoming queen was chosen. Also roll room officers were announced and Key Club presented a fireworks show.

All was not well at half time as Chatard led the game 20-0. As the whistle was blown, Tech Marching Band sounded off with Holtz March, Whiplash, When Johnny Gets Blue, and the Tech Student.

Next the 1975 Homecoming floats rolled out on the field with queen candidates aboard. Leading the floats was Roll Room 190 with their float which was a covered wagon. Second in line was Roll Room 153 with a cake and candles for the birthday of America. Third was Roll Room 6 with a rocket and the Statue of Liberty. After 6 was Roll Room 7 with an eight-foot eagle representing the national bird and a cannon, a marker of the Revolutionary War. Second to last was 400, the winner of the contest, with a float representing the heritage of America. Last was 648 with a covered wagon and live horses.

After the floats the Homecoming queen was crowned. The candidates included Terry Dawson, Gaye Wilson, Delores Reed, Kathy Ingles, Jackie Maxwell, and Diane Cornforth. The Homecoming queen was Jackie Maxwell of Roll Room 7.

Next fireworks were presented by Key Club. And after halftime activities the football game went resulting in our loss 26-0. Other wise the night was filled with joy.

Excuses, escapes, escapades

Although 1976 Techites are searching and seeking for identity, a typical day at Tech would not be complete without excuses and escapes. But past, present and future Techites are unique because they have their own campus where they can escape to places beyond belief and give some of the wildest excuses (whether forgiven, forgotten or "that's tough") for their escapades.

Even though people tend to take excuses and escapes as small unimportant parts of their lives, they are actually part of the structures on which they build. And what better place can we find to test ourselves than at our own Arsenal Technical High!

EXCUSES, excuses we've heard them all! "You wouldn't believe what I saw over the Main; I've been in the nurse's office; I had a dental appointment; I was in the Bookstore; my grandmother was sick this weekend; and ah, the teacher forgot to wake me up!"

Hopes and Dreams

Our dreams today may be the accomplishments of tomorrow. Socially, physically, mentally and spiritually, we are realizing what we want to be. Will our dreams come true? Who knows? We either fake it, make it or break it.

Alumni make great achievements in life

William E. Anderson, Frank Fisse, Frank Kendrick, John C. Christ, Hector Garcia, and William Justice. What do all these people have to do with Tech? They're Tech Alumni.

William Anderson of the Indianapolis Star has "covered every major crime in Indianapolis in the past 25 years". He and two other reporters covered police corruption which resulted in over 400 stories. For the stories they received local, state, and national awards. Also they won the highest award in journalism, the Pulitzer Prize, for investigative reporting, also the AP and UPI awards for top reporting in the state.

At Tech Mr. Anderson went to school with John C. Christ, Winston Churchill, and Robert Meyer. Mr. Meyer, a school administrator, was "one of the finest football players Tech ever had" according to Mr. Anderson. William Anderson received his diploma from the Army in 1944 but "proudly considers himself a Tech graduate".

Frank Fisse, also working for the Star as a photographer, has photographed six presidents which include Harry S. Truman, Dwight Eisenhower, John F. Kennedy, Lyndon Johnson, Richard Nixon, and Gerald Ford. For the past 25 years he has photographed the Indianapolis 500. He has won several awards with his photography. He is also an Hanson H. Anderson Award recipient. He has many friends here at Tech, Anna Parker, Wally Potter, Howard Catt, Ernie Cline, and Ivan Moreman. Frank Fisse graduated from Tech in 1945.

Frank Kendrick, a 1970 graduate, has played on the Indiana All-Stars. He received the Star of Stars trophy after this game. From 1974 to 1975 he played with the Golden Gate Warriors of San Francisco. He is presently playing with the Baltimore Claws. He graduated from Purdue in 1974 with a degree in Radio-Television. He was also named most valuable player in his junior and senior years at Purdue. He was the captain of the team. He has traveled to South America and Hawaii playing basketball.

John C. Christ, a Municipal Court Judge for four terms from 1957-1970, was a 1944 Tech graduate. He was also a candidate for mayor of Indianapolis in the 1975 Democratic primary. As a Tech student he was on the debate team, in Service Club, and helped organize the Student Affairs Organization. He also presented the Senior class present, the two marble benches in Stuart Tower. He can remember the days of riding the old Michigan street car to school when he could afford it. If he couldn't afford it the student would walk, even if it were several miles.

Hector Garcia, an artist and medalist graduated from Tech in 1952. He is the designer of the State of Indiana American Revolution Bicentennial Medal. He works with wood, ceramics, plaster, concrete, and stained glass. Ever since he was seven years old he has been working with clay. Before his 40th birthday he had acquired several awards and commissions. He now lives in Fort Wayne Indiana, where he teaches.

William Justice, a 1931 graduate, works with WED Enterprises in California. This company works with Walt Disney Studios. He himself specializes in animation and converting animation into mechanics. He has programmed the 26 mechanical presidents in Disneyland, along with several other animated characters. He also designs costumes for Mickey Mouse and Pluto and several other characters. He has attended John Herron Art School here in Indianapolis which made him Alumnus of the Year in 1974. He has been nominated for four Academy Awards. He has also worked with shows like Mary Poppins. He says that everything he learned at Tech and John Herron has been very helpful.

Tech is very proud of alumni who have made something of themselves and hopes that all of us make the best of our lives. And who knows, maybe someday a Techite will be President of the United States.

Those Who Are Willing . . .
CLASSES

COULD THESE HANDS belong to a famous artist or a student of the Art Department?

New classes add 'class' to art efforts

This year 25 percent of Tech's student body created works of art in the Art Department. To be exact, 1,150 students were enrolled this year in art at Tech.

Also the art students had three new classes: macrame, basketmaking, and weaving on a hand loom. The qualifications for enrollment in ceramics with glass formulations were: to be an advanced art student and receive an A from previous art classes.

Classes the Art Department offered this year were Exploratory Art, Basic Art, Advanced Art, Craft Design, Stage Design, Sign Painting, Commercial Art, Jewelry and Metal Craft, Sculpture, and Art Appreciation. (If there were enough students to form a class).

This year the Art Department had a new addition to the faculty, Paul Sinclair. The Art Department staff of 9 members represented a range from 25 years to 1 year of experience.

JEFFERY RHOTON is serious about his work in a Craft Design class.

RICK MOORE'S poster combines themes of ecology and space.

JUDY SUIT'S painting is called The Broken Bridge. Both students were in Mrs. Emma-gee Washington's class.

JOE COX continues his work despite an interruption by the photographer.

ERIC KINSEY is surrounded by likewise busy pupils in Accounting class.

DARLA RUSSELL and Anthony Howell study for their Computer class.

Business Education Department offers careers

"SMILE, Miss Freeman, it's only a typing class."

Are you preparing for a career? Each semester the Business Education Department offers over 25 courses from which to choose, some of which are offered by no other high school in the city. Among these are classes in computer, key punch and cashiering.

Joyce Freeman, head of the department, points out that since none of the courses are required, only truly interested pupils enroll. Miss Freeman likes to talk with pupils individually about planning their careers.

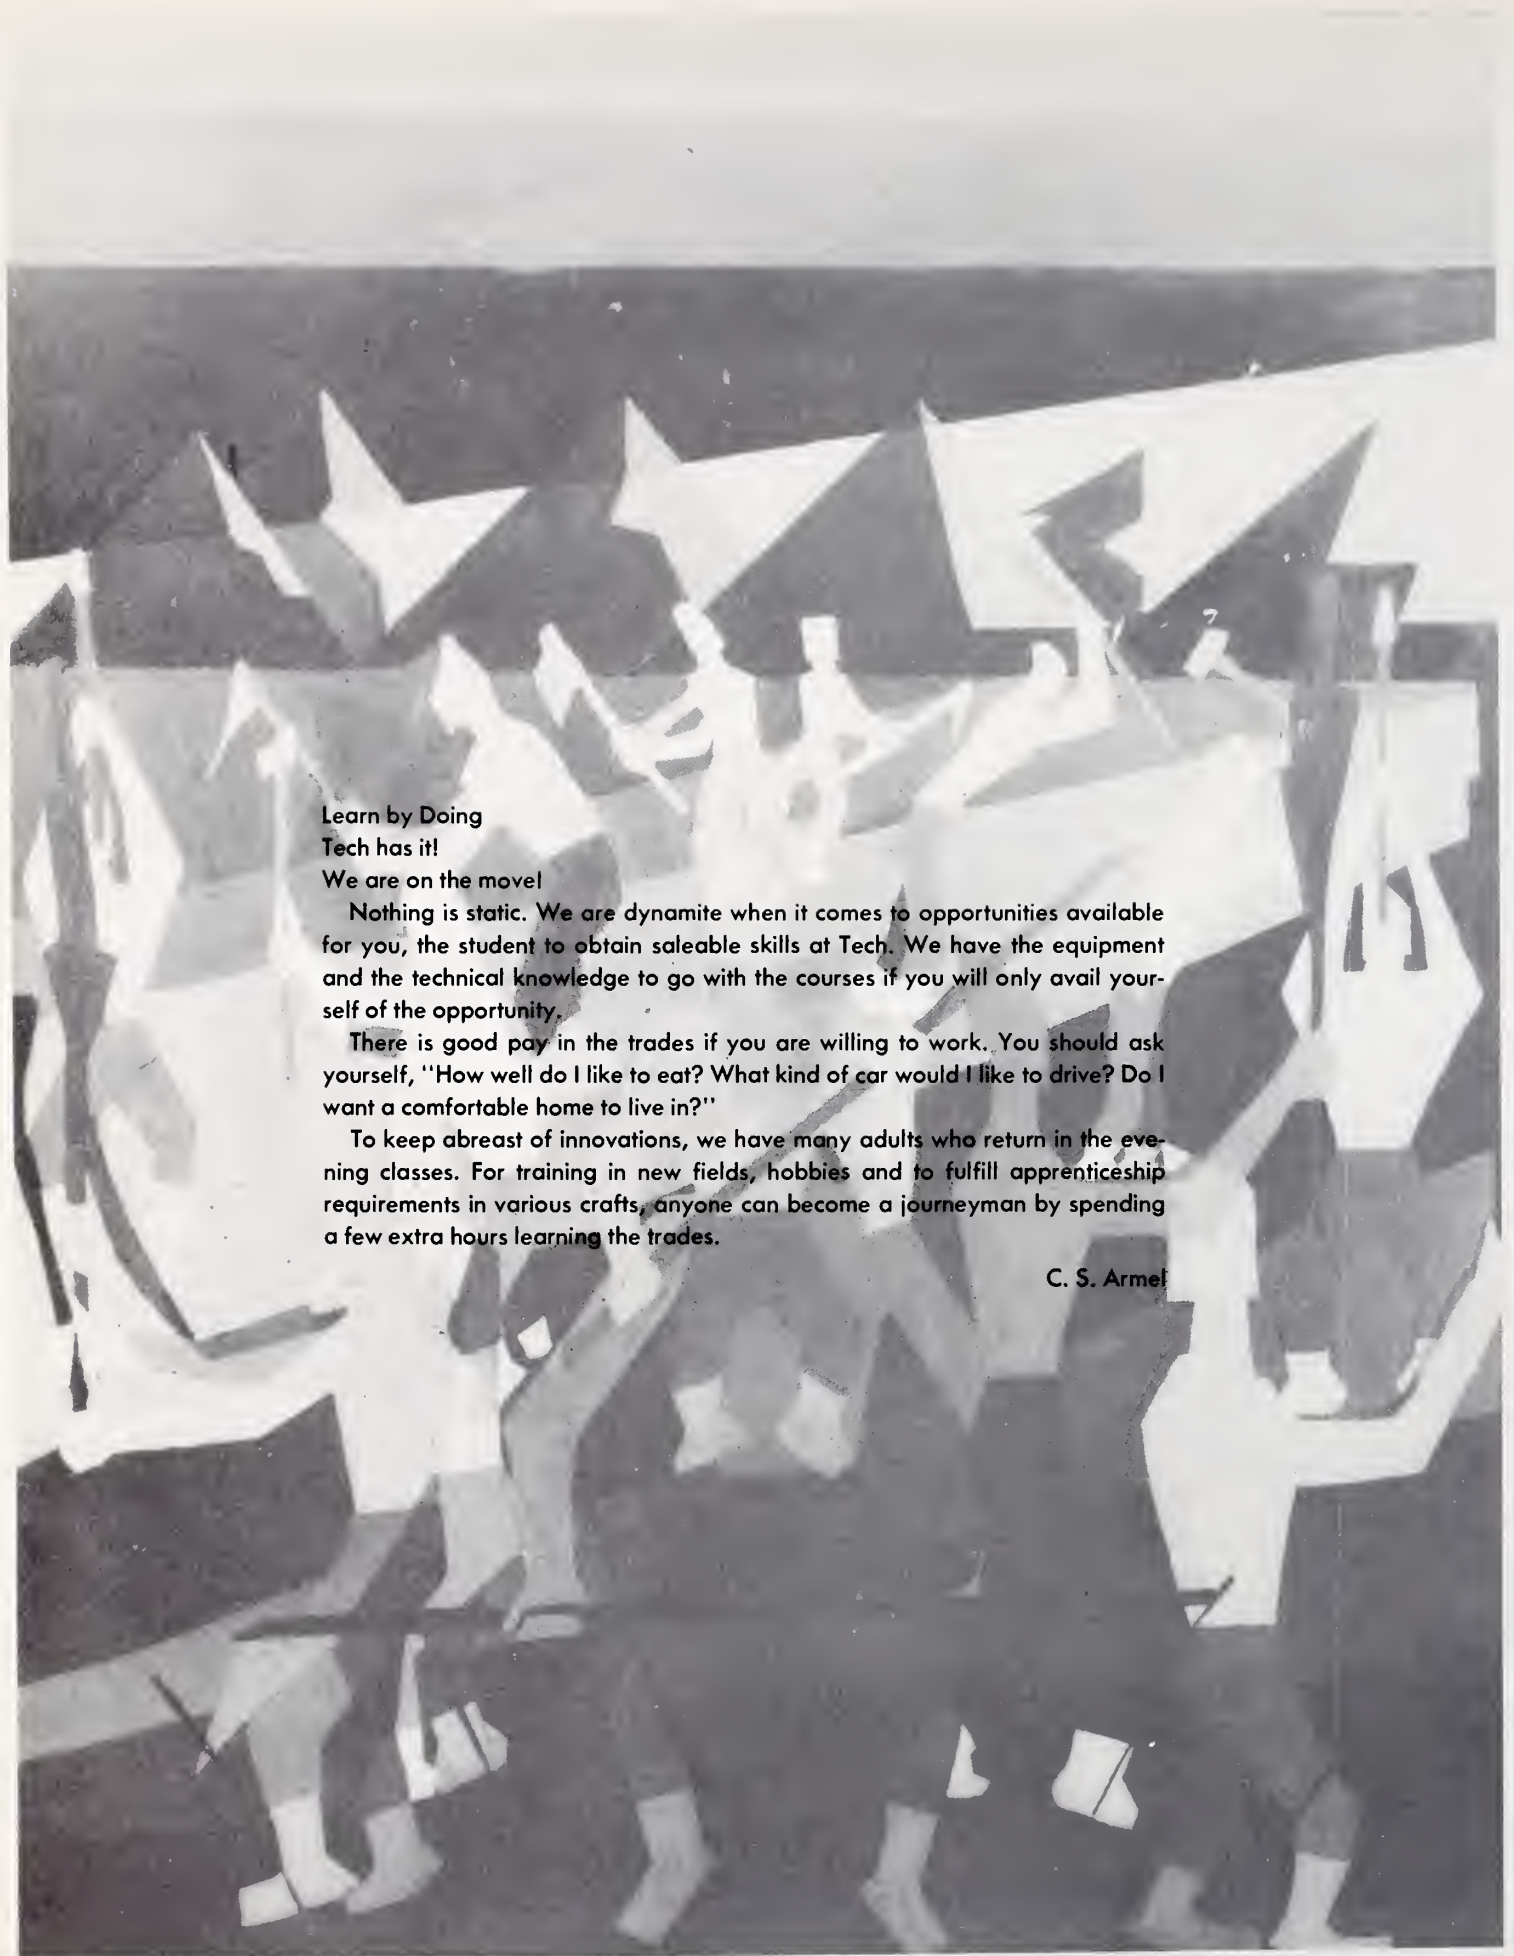

Special advanced courses offered are Distributive Education (all about retailing) Intensive Office Laboratory (experience oriented) Cooperative Office Education (actual experience) and data processing (actual application of computer courses).

Typing, accounting and business law rate high with boys and girls alike, while COE is a favorite among the girls.

GWENDOLYN OHMIT checks the work of Glaria Carroll.

DONNA WHITE likes to stick to her data processing and get it done.

ERIC STUBBS captures the spirit of "The Builders" in his prize-winning poster. 500 Art Fair, 1975. Eric was a student of Mrs. Emmagee Washington.

Print Shop produces much material for Tech

TOMMY STONE and Kenneth Bradley take printed material off a small offset press.

Way down in the basement at the south end of the Old Shop Building, you might see some funny looking machines.

They are the many pieces of equipment used in the Print Shop available to students at ATHS.

The head of the department is Clyde Armel. Mr. Armel feels his department offers a wide variety of vocations for the students. Some of the courses offered by the Printing Department are printing-cold type and printing-hot type which have to do with the setting of type.

Printing experience is the actual experience of using the equipment.

Along with production classes, some of the different machines used are letterpress, offset press, Baum Folder, IBM Magnetic Tape Selectric Composer.

Some of the projects taken on by the Print Shop are meeting deadlines for the ARSENAL CANNON, print work for the Music Department, and different PTA items.

Printing is just one area of the many courses offered at Tech.

LARRY GRIFFIN and James Heavrin operate IBM Campositar.

ANNA TAYLOR and Debra Edmonds use an automatic stitcher.

Drafting offers careers

Did you ever consider how the multitude of products that are available which make our lives a little easier and more comfortable came about? Practically all products and buildings began as an idea in someone's mind. These ideas were then developed on paper by draftsmen using a language of lines, views, and notes to fully describe the originator's idea. Finally other workmen possessing many different talents, using the information on the drawing, produced a product or building which benefits the user.

Drafting is one of the vocational areas available to students at Tech. Following a brief exposure to drafting in the Introduction to Industry course, students are encouraged to continue with Related Drafting I and II, which is a 2 semester 1 period 1/2 credit course. Advanced classes in Architectural and Machine Drafting are available for students who display some talent for this type work in the beginning courses.

Several of Tech's advanced drafting students brought favorable recognition to the school and the Drafting Department during the spring semester 1975, by placing in competition sponsored by organizations concerned with drafting and the preparation of future draftsmen. Jerry Tennant won honorable mention in Architectural Competition sponsored by the Indianapolis Chapter of the American Institute of Architects. In the Machine Drafting Competition sponsored by the IPS Design and Drafting Advisory Committee, Kevin Simonton won first place in Class A Competition, and Michael Beach won first place in the Class B Competition. Kevin also won third place in Machine Drafting in the state-wide Vocational Industrial Clubs of America Competition in which Tech was host school.

One of the primary goals of the Tech Drafting Department staff is to help prepare students who have an interest and some talent in drafting for a career which will be challenging and financially rewarding.

CHRISTOPHER STUBBS draws his lines straight and neat.

RICHARD MILLER checks out building sketches.

Electronics looks toward the future

Electronics is the field of the future, a field which is drawing more interest of young men and women due to the fact that oil and gas supplies are coming to an end.

Electronics is one of the four fields in the Electrical Trades Department which our school offers to train students.

The other three are electricity; radio and television; and air conditioning, heating and refrigeration.

A student may be trained for a job after high school. In a field such as electronics the student may have to go to college for further training.

SEAN MURRAY and Danny DeBurger man work stations for a project in electronics.

GLEN LAMB and Jael Adams make calculations in their workbook.

Metal Trades class build snowmen for Circle

If you were around the downtown area during the Christmas season you probably saw a few huge snowmen made of metal outside the Soldiers and Sailors Monument. These eye-appealing structures were made partially by the Metal Trades Department at Tech.

This wasn't the first project the Metal Trades classes have done. They have helped design display cases and name plates that are used around the campus.

The classes offer careers in the metal trades field. Trades such as machine shop, patternwork, sheet metal, and foundry are taught at Tech. A student will have a good start for a well paying career if he should be interested in continuing.

TONY LEE and James Redfern cut the gate off at their project in Metal trades.

THE METAL TRADES DEPARTMENT and the Stage Craft class made giant snowmen shown at the Circle.

EUGENE FORD airs out his mold to remove dirt particles so they won't damage the casting.

VERNEL RANDOLF, Gardon Lair, and Harold Davis use the table saw, one of the many machines used by students in the Building Trades Department.

Saw, hammer, brush— tools of building trades

If you are interested in carpentry, masonry cabinet-making, painting, decorating or plumbing, building trades is the department for you.

In building trades, the student not only learns to make something from nothing but learns maintenance and upkeep that is useful at home and on the job. If a student proves to be worthy the senior year, he (or she) may win the Lewis H. Ewing award, which is $25 in tools.

ZELLIE ALLEN sands a table top until it's smooth as glass.

Auto Mechanics—savings for your budget

People complain about prices these days! Well, right here in our own school a car repair service is operating with the only charge for parts used for repair or replacement.

Many courses are offered in the Auto Trades Department, such as Engine Systems, Auto Body, Auto Mechanics, Aviation, and Service Station classes. Pupils can learn everything from how to change a tire up to rebuilding an entire engine. Pupils learn how to paint a car or repair a good sized dent. Service Station Attendant classes are offered also. This class offers everything a service station attendant would do in a normal working situation.

Now after knowing what the Auto Trades Department offers, if you're still complaining about prices, stop your crying, and learn how to work on a car of your own.

BRAD HELM and David Gervis replace a piston in their Auto Mechanics class.

RICKY CANNON dismantles a tire from the rim.

WILLIE McDOWELL, Charlie Hibbet, and William Kerr get the camshaft out of an engine they're overhauling.

SHARI WILSON and Benita Kennedy enjoy cooking in their Commercial Foods class.

Career cooking

Commercial Foods was in full swing this year teaching students quantity cooking. This is a class located in the Cafeteria Building which instructs students how to cook for large groups of people, such as luncheons, and also gives them a chance to make a profession of it. There are several fields in commercial cooking pupils can enter, such as management, cooking, or becoming a chef.

The class is kept up to date with a microwave oven and a convection oven which was just installed this year. The class cooks for retired teachers' and principals' luncheons, and other special occasions throughout the year. They also bake and sell birthday cakes, cookies and brownies to faculty and members of the class.

To get into the class a pupil must be in his third semester and accepted into the class. If he remains in the class for six semesters, the maximum, he may receive a vocational certificate with two more credits from family living, housing and management, or child development.

CHARLOTTE KIRK makes sure the measurements are right.

English classes "phase in" Bicentennial

The English Department personnel really involved themselves in this Bicentennial year. They held a contest which included all English classes. Each month offered another opportunity to win the contest in different, varied forms of English composition. The most popular forms of English that were used in the contest, were essay, short story, free verse, and drama.

The Pupil Curriculum Council, which is active in electing and choosing phase courses, worked hard this year. They put their ideas together to form new and interesting types of English classes. They also made a list of suggestions and projects for the Bicentennial year for participation by the student body.

New classes offered this year were journalism, speech, performing theater arts, minority literature, and essentials of English.

Science Fiction, which was a new course offered in English last year, is still a leading favorite among the students.

Mrs. Sally Choate is a new teacher in the English Department, also involved in teaching Spanish. This Bicentennial year has made an increase of ambitious activity and ambitious work in the English Department. Changing ideas for better student development is a goal that the English Department is reaching.

TAMMIE WILLIAMS, Henry Bayd, and Allisan Kimbraugh take an interest in Mr. Hill's English I class.

Foreign Language Fun for Flight Fare is a 'Monster Smash' Singing—Dancing—Acting

The Foreign Language Department was at it again this year with a bustling, busy and exciting schedule of activities.

The students in the foreign language classes served various dishes with each language group contributing dishes representing its ethnic specialty. The food was served at the International Center on West 42nd Street.

French students planned to go to Purdue University early in the year to receive advance information about foreign language classes there.

The highlight in the department's calendar was Foreign Language Fun for Flight Fare (FLFFFF). The event is becoming an annual tradition. This year's comedy sketches ballyhooed horror features regularly heard and seen on TV. This third year of the production was enjoyed by the audience and participants. Funds so raised help to finance language study abroad for a student. Last year Donna White, a senior majoring in Latin, went to Italy with the help of FLFFFF funds.

The department gave serious thought to starting a new course. An exploratory experiment which involved seven French students took place one day each week this year.

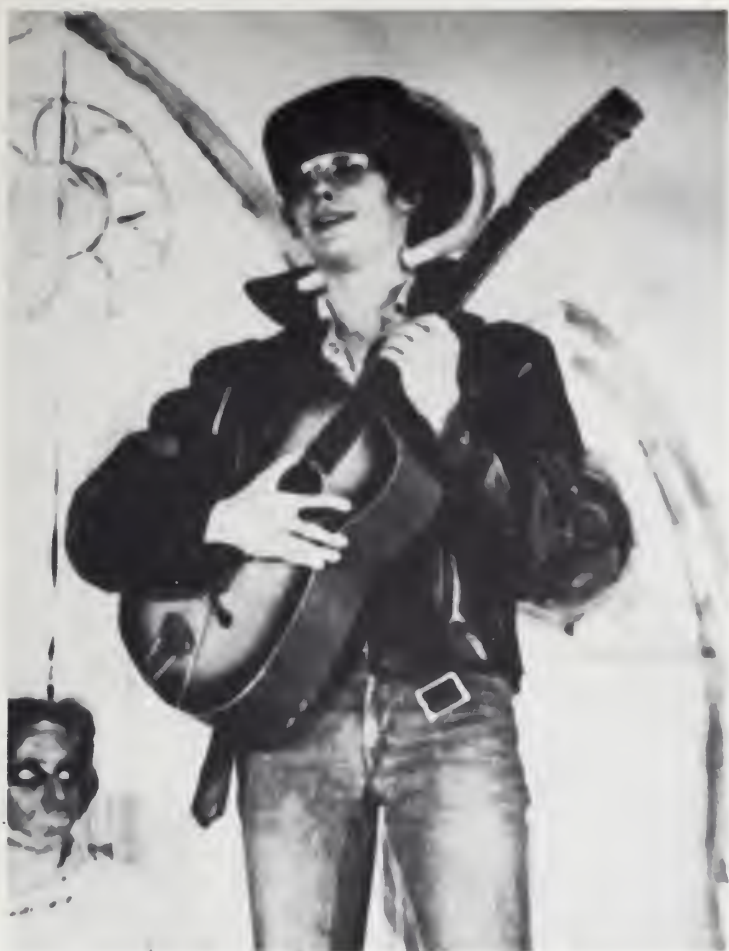

These students taught in the elementary and junior high schools of the community. If the program becomes permanent, each student instructor will receive one credit per semester.

PER VAGE, exchange student from Norway sings I WANT TO HOLD YOUR HAND in German.

FLFFFF CAST members assemble for curtain call after the performance as the audience applauds appreciatively.

BILL COX (Frankenstein) sings a love song for his sweetheart.

MARIO SERNA, exchange student from Acapulco, going to Washington High School sings VAGABUN-DEAR.

Gym and health classes keep students fit

One of the big responsibilities of keeping the Health and Physical Education Department going falls into the ever-open hands of Mr. James Leap. Under his direction are the Boys' Physical Education, Girls' Physical Education, Health Department, and the Health Center.

If you happen to head down to the Boys' Gym, you'll be surprised at the activity schedule. On Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, you'll find air hockey, weight room workouts, bumper pool and foosball on the lower deck. Upstairs you'll find basketball, volleyball, shuffleboard, ping-pong, quoits, and indoor horseshoes. Later in the school year, tournament time rolls around. Tournaments are held on a one-on-one basketball competition, ping-pong, air hockey, and bumper pool. Medals go to the winner in each class.

On Tuesdays and Thursdays, come basic gym days, where hard running and exercise make the day, along with tests such as push-up, pull-up, 100 yard dash, mile run and others.

In the health area, classes stress mainly the basics of good health education, trying to discuss more of the mental and physical problems which concern students of today.

The Girls' gym follows up with running and exercise for the girls. An occasional dance is learned.

In the building plans a new girls' gym and a swimming pool are included next to a remodeled boys' gym.

DONNA SHAFFER hits the ball across the net as Linda Dowdy and Mary Young watch.

What' cookin'? And sew on . .

"A stitch in time saves nine," so the saying goes. And the clothing classes at Tech are living proof of it. Mrs. Kathy Evans is one of the seven clothing teachers at Tech. She teaches Clothing Exploratory I and Clothing III. "The requirements are to make a wool skirt and two complete outfits such as pants and a jacket, or a dress. The girls are encouraged to professionalize their garments more than they did in Clothing I. Much emphasis is placed on pressing and finishing, resulting in more tailored outfits."

"Last year the girls had slides taken while they were modeling their garments. Then the slides were shown at a PTA meeting. That way more girls could participate and have their outfits shown in less time."

With the cost of living the way it is these days, the price of clothing sky-high, more often than not it can be cheaper to make clothes than to buy them. "A stitch in time saves nine." Nine dollars maybe?

The way to a man's heart is through his stomach." Many girls realize that and are learning the basics of good meals. Mrs. Jane Snow, foods and nutrition teacher, comments on the Foods I class she taught, "In Foods I the girls became acquainted with the basics of cooking and preparation. They learn to prepare cereal breakfasts, soup and salad lunches, quick breads, vegetables, cookies, and various types of cakes."

"The girls usually work four to a kitchen, and each one is assigned certain duties such as washing and drying dishes, cleaning the sink and stove, and disposing of garbage. With everyone doing her assigned share of the work, the results are an efficient working kitchen."

There are several males enrolled in Men's Foods this year, going on to Commercial Foods the next year. Commercial Foods is a three period, two credit class.

QUINTIN AVERY ponders the problem Mr. Ireland gave him.

CHARLES ERNESTES bites his tongue over a geometry proposition.

Heyl Arsenal Technical High School has its own private numbers racket--the Math Department. Enrolled in its classes are some 3,000 students. Over the past three years, enrollment has remained constant, but enrollment in classes such as geometry, trigonometry and advanced math has risen.

Introductory Math I and Basic Math I are the lowest levels of math offered at Tech. Incoming freshmen have six different levels to choose from, according to ability. The highest level of math offered is Advanced Math I which is equivalent to first-year college math.

James Brown, department head, holds a master's degree and is just 30 hours short of a doctorate. He has 18 years' experience as math department head, 5 of which have been at Tech. The department consists of 19 qualified teachers within the department.

The Carl Corbin Award is given each year to the graduating senior with the most outstanding achievements in math, determined by the Math Department. The graduating senior must also have the best record, and the highest grade-point average in math, over a period of four years.

This year there is a great deal of emphasis on the more capable students, by encouraging them to enroll in higher maths, such as Trigonometry I and II and Advanced Math I and II. One method of encouragement is to present to the student body, students already enrolled in the higher maths, by putting individual photographs of each advanced student on a bulletin board.

KIL SOON PARK from Korea will be a candidate for college when she becomes accustomed to English and when her school credits arrive. Meanwhile she is in Mr. Glaver's algebra III class.

How to Succeed in Business wins audience

The Arsenal Technical High School Music Department performed its fourth consecutive musical, How To Succeed in Business Without Really Trying, March 21 and 22, 1975. With directors Stan Minks, drama director; William S. Tatum, vocal music director; Mrs. Kandis Brown, assistant music director; Ronald Nobles, orchestra director; Patricia Heinz, costuming director; Ray Browne, technical director; Tony Lewis and Kathy Miller, choreography directors; and Robert Bulthaup, sound director, the musical was off to a good start.

But this was only the start. After two days of try-outs students in the Music Department were selected to play the characters of the play. Some of the leading parts were played by Randy Biech, J. Pierrepont Finch; Teresa James, Rosemary; Mike Thomas, J. B. Biggley; Orron Coleman, Bud Frump; Kathy Miller, Hedy; and Lesa Morrison, Smitty. Other parts were played by Bill Cox, Bill Johnson, Jeff Johnson, Tom Witsman, Jeff Davis, Dave Lewis, Tom Howard, Robert Hood, Fred Lane, Bruce Chaney, Beth Wiley, Samantha Overton, Patty Rocks, and Janet Wilburn.

The orchestra pit contained Robin DeBurger, Janet Deatrick, Michael Chapman, Marjorie Darden, Timothy Fuller, Michael Stigler, violin; Keith Armour, Valerie McCray, viola; Joe Huber, Ronnie Wagner, trumpets; Leonard Cox, tenor sax; Carl Michaelis, Pasquale Amato, Beth Aubrey, cello; David Braden, Stephen Scott, bass; Robert Greene, percussion; Tom Harvey, bass clarinet, baritone sax; Cheryl Cooper, french horn; Shelley Hacker, Debbie Evans, Gary Davis, flute-piccolo; Tracey Woods, Elizabeth Newell, Richard Miller, clarinets; Robin Bruer, alto sax; David Carr, and Tony Miller, trombones.

The numbers played by the orchestra were the "Overture", "How To Succeed In Business Without Really Trying", "Happy To Keep His Dinner Warm", "Coffee Break", "The Company Way", "A Secretary Is Not a Toy", "Been a Long Day", "Grand Old Ivy", "Paris Original", "Rosemary", "Cinderella, Darling", "Love from a Heart of Gold", "I Believe In You", "The Yo-Ho-Ho", "Hedy's Fanfare", and "Brotherhood of Man."

Other pupils involved were: Jan Berry, Alex Hong, Lesa McClung, Debbie Sanford, Donald Hapner, Vickie Carson, Kim Weber, Sharon Denkins, Roberta Wade, Anna Porter, Debbie Lewis, Kim Graves, Vivian Wise, and Dina Harding.

The audiences of both performances were very pleased and showed their gratitude with a large response after each scene. After the Saturday night performance roses were presented to Mr. Minks, Mr. Tatum, Mrs. Brown, Mr. Nobles, Mrs. Heinz, Miss McBride, Jan Berry, and Kathy Miller. Upon receiving her rose, Miss McBride presented Kathy Miller with four roses representing the four musicals she has been involved with. Kathy was the only senior who has done this. Afterwards trophies were presented to Mike Thomas and Kathy Miller for best actor and actress. Also a trophy was given to Gerald Murray for being the technical director.

After the Saturday night performance a cast party was given at the Riverside Community Center.

Tech's junior ROTC unit largest in city

Again this year, Tech has come up with the largest junior ROTC unit in the Indianapolis Public School System. The cadet battalion, commanded by C/LTC Tolla L. Freeman was comprised of approximately 280 members, nearly a third of whom were distaff (female) members. Colonel Freeman was assisted by a staff of six cadet officers. They prepared correspondence, posted entries in the cadet records, kept training records on individual cadets, trained junior cadets, maintained school and government property, and insured the Barracks is kept in a high state of "spit and polish" cleanliness.

The Color Guard presented the colors at home sports events, PTA meetings, some Indianopolis School Board meetings, and regional and state sporting events at which Tech acts as host. Probably one of the most memorable performances of the color guard was the posting of colors at the teachers' meeting at the Murot Temple when Vice-President Nelson Rockefeller was in attendance.

Team enjoys shoulder to shoulder matches

The Rifle Team competes in several matches a year. Intramural matches are held on the Tech rifle range, located in the basement of the Barracks. Postal matches are fired on the Tech range; the targets are mailed to the school hosting the match for scoring. The most enjoyable matches for the cadets are the "shoulder to shoulder" matches. Cadets travel to nearby schools to participate in these matches. Cadet commander of this season's team was C/LTC Tolla Freeman. SMAJ Harold E. Eby, senior Army instructor acted as adviser.

The 1975-76 Boys' Varsity Exhibition team was co-commanded by C/2LT Thomas Buchanan and C/SGT Donald Patrick. The team has an extensive schedule of competition with other ROTC units.

The Boys' IDR (regular-type drill) was operated under co-commandership of C/2LT Mike West and C/MSG Gene Waters. Both teams were advised by 1SGT Neris Willis, Army instructor.

This year's Girls' Exhibition Team was under the sponsorship of SGT1C Olive Miller, Army instructor.

Two second year cadets, C/SGT Chenita Wilson and C/SGT Mignonette Woods, co-captain, put the cadet girls through their paces. The girls' team also traveled extensively to attend drill meets.

Farley urges students to take science

With two years as head of the Tech Science Department, John Farley urges students to take as many science courses as they can, because the field of science is wide open for those who want to work and earn money. Such fields are medicine, which offers many opportunities, and engineering which involves electrical, industrial and nuclear work. Mr. Farley says, "There is a tremendous opening for technicians." Mr. Farley also says that "most students are not prepared for society because of the lack of knowledge in science, and ecology." He says these are important, but people just don't know that much about them.

The chemistry classes this year were larger than they have ever been. It seems that the classes of '76 and '77 are taking advantage of this Wide Wide World of Science!

JUSTICE CREDULOUS and his wife Bridget ask Doctor Rosy for a cure for poison.

Social Studies Department sponsors 18th century play

One big event of the Social Studies Department was the presentation of a Bicentennial play on the afternoon of November 26 in the Forum. The play was entitled THE SCHEMING LIEUTENANT, it was written by the great English playwright Richard Brinsley Sheridan, and directed by Robert Maloy of the tech English Department.

Students who participated were: Neil Ulsh, Lieutenant O'Conner; Dale Slater, Doctor. Rosy; Ellen Gadbury, Loretta; Tracy Woods, Bridget; Mike Thomas, Justice Credulous; Sheldon Shaw, John; and Larry Medsker, Sergeant Flint.

The play takes place in 1776 in the town of Dublin.

The play was written because an actor in one of Sheridan's other plays THE RIVALS was so good, people begged Sheridan to write a play for him. While Sheridan was in Parliament he wrote many speeches to help the American colonists.

This makes the play appropriate for the Bicentennial observance.

And what a better place for Tech pupils to salute America than in our own Social Studies Department with William Siedlecki as the commander. Mr. Siedlecki and the other fine teachers in the department have recognized America's birthday by having essay contests for history students and having a wide research of George Rogers Clark.

Harvey Hallagan who teaches in the Social Studies Department went on the Freedoms Foundation trip along with Tech senior Barb Taube. The trip is basically a historic tour in Valley Forge, Pennsylvania, and Washington D.C. Barb and Mr. Hallagan toured such places as Valley Forge Park, Fort Mchenry, the White House and the Capitol. On their trip, Tech's representatives got recognition for the school in the Freedoms Foundation Awards competition.

Tech 300 is responsible and open-minded

Swimming, expeditions exploring caves, visiting Franklin College for an all day outing, enjoying the Indiana State Law Library, and studying nature, namely, winter scenes in Camp Dellwood, sparked up a fire of interest in Tech 300.

As students and teachers involved themselves together in athletic events, plays, musical performances, and weekend outings, personal interest grew. All this fun is happening because Tech 300 did activities together.

Open-mindedness and responsibility are the key words that express this team of out going, hard working teachers and students.

They shared, worked, and planned together to set a goal for their accomplishments. Participation and open communication were what put go-power into Tech 300's program. They didn't sit around, but actively put their words "responsible and open-minded" into action. This benefits both the student and the teacher. Mr. Orth, director of Tech 300, was highly pleased with the outcome and those who sponsored the program didn't have their spirits dampened, since Tech 300 has had another successful year.

MATH seems easy to Martin Grigsby as he leans comfortably on his hand.

The House Plan is not as it sounds, the plan for building a new home. But it IS a kind of home. Actually it is a group made up of Tech students who were chosen at random for a special purpose, to bring teachers and pupils closer together.

The House Plan is now finishing its sixth year. There were two changes this year. In the staff, Kent Demmary taught biology replacing Robert Orth (now heading Tech 300).

The other changes were in the facilities. Instead of the usual combined home room in the cafeteria, half of the House Plan home rooms were in Stuart Hall, and the other half in Treadwell Hall.

'Flip-side' of Marching Band is little known

Many people may believe that the only thing that the Marching Band does is perform during half-time at home football games. If they only knew how wrong they are!

During the course of the year, the members went to many contests. The contests were sponsored by the Catholic Youth Organization and the Indiana State Music Association. They also participated in the Veterans Day parade and went to Indiana Central University and performed during one of ICU's football games. The band, which is always accompanied by Majorettes, marched in the 500 parade.

The group, which is directed by Mr. Lee Barricklow, consisted of 64 people. Forty-three members of the ensemble were rookies this year. Several people in the group didn't even know how to play an instrument one year before they started in the band.

This only goes to prove that a person can learn how to play an instrument fast and be good enough to join in the fun of being in the Marching Band.

The Symphonic Band, directed by Lee Barricklow, has really worked hard to achieve a good performing sound.

They performed at Christmas in the Round, and many concerts.

Many of the contests which they went to were small and solo contests. The band won first place in this type. In large ensemble competition they won second place.

All members are drawn from the Concert Band or Band E. Selections are made from auditions.

Twirlers, Pom-Pons, show style in routines

Ever wonder who all those beautiful girls performing in front of the Marching Band are? Well, they're none other than our own Majorettes.

The high-stepping group gave one of their best performances of the 1975 marching season in November at the Football Highlights. The Titanettes entertained the audience with their flashing routines of GOING HOME and WHIPLASH.

Every three years Tech gets to march in the 500 parade and this was their year.

Even though there were many new members of the Titanettes this year, they had hardly any trouble learning all their routines under the direction of Sheila Sullivan.

Stage and Pep bands liven up music sound

One of our liveliest musical groups is the Stage Band. Their finger-snapping and toe-tapping music is enjoyed by many.

They play basically all pop music. Their performances this year included Open House, Christmas in the Round, and a concert which was given here in January. They also played at an Indiana Central basketball game.

The money they received for their performances went for the payment of transportation, concert fees, and outfits.

All members are drawn from the Symphonic Band.

The Pep Band is also a very lively group. They play at all our home basketball games and at pep sessions.

It's very simple to become a member of the band. All you have to do is be part of the band program and come to all the meetings and practices. That's all, and you're in the group.

String Ensemble doesn't just fiddle around

Which music group has 16 of the best string instrumentalists in the school? Who else but the String Ensemble.

The group was very busy this year. Not only did they play along with the orchestra, but they had many of their own performances.

During the summer of 1975 they played during the Strawberry Festival downtown.

They also played at the Festival of Tables, Christmas in the Round, and at the PTA Thanks Tea in Stuart Tower.

Melodayres get into “sing” of things

The Melodayres were really on the move this year and their voices kept them going.

Not only does the group sing madrigals, but they also sing pop and classical music.

The group performed at many affairs. They sang for the Hobby and Gift Show, Open House, Metropolitan Office for Women's Programs and many other occasions.

The ensemble consists of first sopranos, second sopranos, altos, tenors, baritones, and basses.

Under the direction of William Moon, the group also adds step routines to accompany their songs.

Which group has 12 of the best female singers in the whole school? The Girls' Ensemble of course.

The girls sang at the Open House, Christmas in the Round, and a concert in January in which all the small ensemble groups participated.

In early October, they had a car wash along with the Boys' Octette to help raise money to buy their outfits.

The group sings all types of music from pop to classical.

There were six new girls added to the group this year.

Mrs. Kandis Brown, director of the group said, "The girls really have a good blend."

The Boys' Octette is a very entertaining group. Their sublime music is enjoyed by all.

The group participated not only in activities here at school such as the annual Variety Show, Open House, and the Christmas in the Round program but they also sang at organizations like the American Red Cross and the Salvation Army.

In May they went to an annual singing contest organized by the Indiana School Music Association. The Octette has won first place in the state competition for the past three years.

During the course of the year they have had two different accompanists, Tom Harvey and Beth Aubrey.

Girls' Concert Club—Boys' Concert Club

After being very busy making their beautiful dresses the Girls Concert Club began their year of joyful singing. The group consists of about 40 sopranos, second sopranos, and altos. The girls went Halloween carolling around the campus singing songs such as "Pumpkin Bells," and "Great Pumpkin's Coming to Town."

They also participated in the Christmas in the Round Show and their own annual Spring Concert.

The Boys Concert Club consists of about 35 first tenors, second tenors, baritones, and basses. They participated in the All-City Boys Concert Club Festival and the Bicentennial program at the Market Square Arena.

Both groups meet fourth period. The girls meet in Room 648 and are directed by William Moon. The boys meet in Room 632 and are directed by William Tatum.

The concert clubs are full of enthusiastic students with hopes of going on to Techoir next semester or next year.

The band practices, under the direction of Edward Evons, with each member preparing himself for higher bands.

Step aside Beethoven—the Orchestra's here

One of our largest musical groups is the Orchestra. They were very busy during the past nine months.

Their biggest and most exciting performance was a program at Clowes Hall in which three high school orchestras performed. It was part of a Bicentennial project given for the Butler American Music Festival. Only American music was played.

Another one of their large performances was at Market Square Arena where they participated in a mass orchestra consisting of all the high school orchestras in the city.

The co-concert masters this year were Janet Deatrick and Mike Chapman.

The group plays all different styles of music. Everything from Russian romantic to modern pop.

The backbone of the orchestra is the string section with violins and cellos. There are also woodwind, brass, and percussion sections.

Director, Ron Nobles said of the group, "This was the most exciting and most important year in a long time. The group was better than in past years."

Bell Choir rings out message loud and clear

Tech is a very fortunate school to have a special music group like the Bell Choir, equipped with imported bells donated by Mrs. Ruth Laburge in honor of her parents.

This was one of the busiest years for the group. The members were constantly rushing to a performance.

Last year several people auditioned for the choir and eight made it, bringing the total to 15. Members were chosen for their musical ability and their willingness to take responsibility.

The ringers and their bells were seen and heard at many churches where they played mainly classical music. The group also entertained for Open House, the American Business Women's Association, and the Indiana School Women's Luncheon.

Listen—Techoir sings from the heart

"Canimus ex animo" means "Sing from the heart" in Latin, and that's exactly what the Techoir does.

They sang on the Monument Circle in December at the True Lighting Ceremony. They also made their annual film at WISH TV station. They went Christmas carolling around the downtown area.

The Techoir did something special during their performance at Christmas in the Round. As they sang the song, "If I Had a Hundred Christmases" many members would gradually go out into the audience and kiss or hug friends and relatives.

This is the largest vocal music group, which consists of about 65 people. William Moon directs the group and Mrs. Kandis Brown accompanies on piano.

THE TECHOIR sings "Joy to the Words" at Christmas in the Round.

What's new? Black Music and Guitar

The Music Department offered two new classes this year, Black Music History, and Guitar.

In Black Music History class students trace the history of jazz back to Africa where it all started. They learn how this music came to America and compare how the styles of black music have changed through the years.

Combined with the history class is a course called Jazz. Students learn the history of jazz from the early 1900's up to the present.

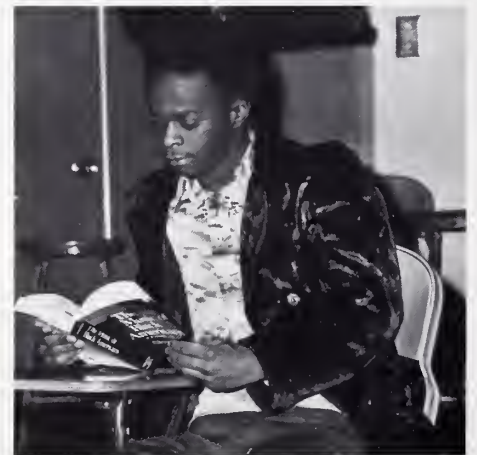

In the Guitar classes students learn the basic steps of playing a guitar. Special films are seen which show how certain chords are played and how they should sound.

KRISTIE SENOUR learns how jazz got started.

NICKY EDWARDS shows that playing the guitar isn't as easy as it looks.

DARRELL NEBLETT finds out how Black Music originated.

RANDY WARREN takes part in the guitar class.

Music Department—busiest around

"One of the busiest departments in the whole school which brings great enjoyment to both young and old is the Music Department.

There are about 20 different music classes including 12 performing groups.

In September many groups sold candy. Later in the year almost everyone in the Music Department sold candles. They were raising the money to buy an electronic piano center, so multiple piano lessons may be given next year.

The Music Department ended their year with their annual musical. ONCE UPON A MATTRESS was this year's choice.

Chorus too . . .

Even though the chorus classes don't perform, they are still very busy learning how to sing in parts and how to harmonize. Many chorus classes went Christmas carolling around the campus.

There are both male and female choruses. Mrs. Kandis Brown directs the girls and Mr. William Totum directs the boys.

KIM SMITH, Karin Johnson, and Melinda Keillor practice with hopes of being in Tech choir.

Pupils and teachers should get to know a club at Tech called OEA, Office Education Association. The group numbers about 80, all girl students. Most are members of IOL and COE classes.

The girls competed in February contests covering various fields of business. Typing, filing, shorthand, math, spelling and business principles were involved.

The first ranks of competition were in district meetings. Winners advanced to state competition.

"Fun things" included dances, field trips, and at the end of the year, a banquet—not all social activity, but professional training as well.

COE has centered attention on leadership from the election of officers to leadership conferences at Perry Meridian High School. One topic of interest was fund raising. The group decided upon the sale of historical and inspirational place mats. Club members also contacted resource people in business administration. At Christmas, club members called upon elderly patients in local nursing homes.

Jackass B-ball not for faint-hearted

For the third consecutive year, Distributive Education sponsored the Dankey Basketball Game. It was held November 7 in the Bays' gym.

The evening began with female students appasing female teachers and donkeys apposing everyone. After much encouragement and a few threats they carried the faculty ahead at the half.

Then came the half-time show with participants pinning the diaper on the dankey—far the benefit of ecalagy! Winners in this exercise were Ed McDowell, coach, and Antania Martin.

Another caper was billed "Musical Dankeys." Becky Gaade was crowned Miss Jackass of 1975.

DE, however, is nat all play. Pupils are enralled in classes that place them in retail marketing jobs where they receive grades as well as pay.

They participate in regional, state and natianal functions with other DE groups.

Radio Club is tuned in

Members of the Radio Club were tuned in and heard messages from other radio stations located far and near. Not only did they contact various amateur stations in the United States, but they also received messages from other countries via satellite. Excitement grew as they heard different languages being spoken to them. Until the station received its FCC (Federal Communications Commission) license, radio club members could not send messages, but it was still intriguing to receive them.

The twelve members could get their individual licenses by taking a variety of tests-sending and receiving, Morse Code. Technician or General license required passing a test on electronic theory. Tom Barley and Robert Reuter, members of Radio Club, have their own individual licenses; others that studied to get their licenses were Larry Dotson and Glenn Smith. Some members of the club were interested in owning and operating their own home stations, which they could build for $300 or more.

Radio Club members met at 7:30 a.m. on Thursdays, or during periods three, four or six.

VICA

Top pupils in the Career Center become members of VICA, which this year numbered 15. Members paid a membership fee of $13.00 which helped to pay expenses of pupils who represented the school at vocational contests. Top winners competed for a trip to Miami, Florida.

During the year, members enjoyed breakfast and luncheon meetings.

Chem- Physics

Would you pay $500 to test your powers of ESP? (extrasensory perception)? SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN printed the test. Members of Chemistry-Physics Club tried it. Then they tested the test itself and decided to keep the $500.

At other meetings pupils traced heart patterns on an oscilloscope and recorded them on a chart. They also recorded brain waves.

In January they erected a hanging wooden pendulum to study the dynamics of motion.

Stagecraft designs sets for school plays

The plays that are performed at Tech would be less effective if it weren't for the Stage Craft classes. This is a group who designs the stage settings for plays that are performed at Tech. They also help with lighting, stage management, and sound.

The crew helped with the IMAGINARY INVALID, TEN LITTLE INDIANS, THE SCHEMING LIEUTENANT, FLFFFF, the Dromo Club three one-acts, and the musical.

They also put the finishing decorations on the snowmen that were designed by the Metal Trades Department, and displayed on the Circle. They prepared the Forum for the Honors Day program, painted the yard lines on the football field, and built a gate that was used in the stadium to block people off from getting behind the bleachers.

Some of the outstanding students were Dennis Hicks, who did stage designs and worked as a stage manager, Frank Farris, who worked with construction of the sets and Jerry Hill who operated the spot lights during performances.

Imaginary Invalid scores real success

THE IMAGINARY INVALID, the Tech spring play, was performed here April 24 and 25, 1975. Robert Maloy, English and drama teacher, chose and directed the play. The set was designed by Gerald Murray who was also the technical director. Other back stage workers were Frank LaFara, stage manager; Deborah Deatrick, and Eva Hill, make-up; Michelle Michaelis, Kathy Gossett, Debbie Evans, and Mrs. Phillip Early, costumes.

Performing were Joe E. Brown playing the part of the imaginary invalid, Argan. Others were Ellen Gadbury, Toinette; Cecilia Carter, Angelique; T. Allen Dupriest, Monsieur Fleurant; Beth Wiley, Beline;

David Hollaway, Monsieur DeBonneforY —3'; Neil Ulsh, Cleante; Mike Thomas, Monsieur Diaforirus; Vern Cox, Thomas; Teresa Shinkle, Louisan; Sheldon Shaw, Beralde; and Gary Bull, Monsieur Purgan.

After the Friday night performance the cast and stage crew were invited to a party at Mr. Maloy's house.

TEN LITTLE INDIANS* remains mystery

TEN LITTLE INDIANS, by Agatha Christie, was selected as the fall play this year. This was a murder mystery which was a change for Tech's audiences: "It was a much more mature play for teenage viewers," Mrs. Alice Goodrum, the director said afterwards.

Helping Mrs. Goodrum were Charles Bergelt, assistant director and student teacher, and also Ruth Reck, student director. The set was designed by Dennis Hicks who also was the stage manager. Make-up and costumes were handled by Mary Maillard. Publicity was taken care of by Judith McBride. The stage setting was done by Ray Browne and the Stage Construction class.

The cast consisted of Greg Layne, Rogers; Ermine Robinson, Mrs. Rogers; Gary Bottoms, Fred Narracutt; Valerie McCray, Vera Claythorn; Mike Greene, Phillip Lombard; Orron Coleman, Anthony Marston; Mike Thomas, William Blore; Joe E. Brown, General Makenzie; Tracie Woods, Emily Brent; Jay D. Harlan, Sir Lawrence Wargrave; Dale Slater, Doctor Armstrong; and

the secret voice, Tim Flanigan.

Others who helped with the play were Beth Wiley, Alfenia Martin, LaDonna Reck, Tony Miller, Debra Sanford, Carol Young, Mary Clegg, Rick Sinclair, Eric Stubbs, Charlotte Dimmitt, Frank LaFara, Patrick Groth, Carol Keithley, Vern Cox, Patricia Phelps, Alberta Cousin, Kathy Sullivan, and the Performing Theatre Arts classes.

The cast party was held at Ruth Reck's home where refreshments and snacks were served.

Tech's Speech Team is a very active group with over 55 members that go out on Saturdays and compete with other schools state wide. The team is the highest ranking Indianapolis public school in speech and is the only Indianapolis school that holds a speech contest.

This year there were thirteen categories in which to compete with Dramatic Duo and Prose Reading as new entries. At the first meet, hosted by Tech, the team brought home a first-place trophy and many ribbons. At the Seymour meet they took a third place trophy and 18 ribbons. At Ben Davis and North Central the team took home several ribbons but did not take any trophies. Other meets were held at Lawrence Central, Terre Haute South, Lafayette Jeff, Terre Haute North, and Warren Central.

The team financed their trips through a book sale which was held twice last year. At the end of the year a banquet was held which was a formal social event that members and judges were invited to attend. The banquet is an annual affair of the Speech Team which is held at very nice banquet houses and is enjoyed by all who attend. Senior awards are presented here and seniors receive all ribbons and trophies they have won through the Speech Team.

President of the Speech team was Ruth Reck.

THIRD ROW: William Porter, Ruth Reck, Jay D. Harlan, Michael Greene, Alfenia Martin, Kathy Sullivann, Mrs. Alice Gaudrum, sponsor.

An honorary group of the Speech Team is the National Forensic League that any member of Speech Team may join by earning points at speech meets. To qualify, a member must earn 25 points.

There are four degrees that can be earned in NFL. They are Membership, Honor, Excellence, and Distinction. As each degree is earned, a seal is added to the honor certificate. Distinction is the highest degree a speaker in NFL may earn.

Officers are chosen according to ranking in points. Mike Thomas was president with Ruth Reck as vice-president. Other officers were Randy Parter and Mike Greene.

Drama Club does comedy, melodrama

Drama Club had a very large group this year compared to last. This year was also very exciting and rewarding to them. They performed three one-act plays and also received fourteen new Thespians.

The three one-acts were AFTERSHOCK, written and directed by Rick Moore; GIVE MY REGARDS TO BAVARIA, written and directed by Joe E. Brown; and HAPPY DAZE, written and directed by Kathy Sullivan.

Drama Club members who performed in Rick's play were: Mike DeBurger, Frank LaFara, Rick Briley, Delores Reed, Beth Wiley, Vern Cox, Pat Groth, Esther Carter, and Rick. In Joe's play were: Mike Thomas, Carol Keithley, Dale Slater, Tracie Woods, Dan DeBurger, and Joe. Those in Kathy's play were: Vern Cox, Rick Moore, Frank Meid, Pat Groth, Charlene Stewart, Mike DeBurger, Patricia Phelps, Carol Keithley and Kathy.

To keep the audience amused, members who weren't busy backstage did between-the-scenes skits. The skits were CHARLIE CHAPLIN, FATHER AND SON; THAT !# & LAWNMOWER; and DANCE—DANCE—DANCE.

After the plays, Thespian points were tallied and the club found it had fourteen new Thespians. They are: Tony Miller, Jay Harlan, Pat Groth, Danny DeBurger, Carol Young, Tracie Woods, Frank Meid, Greg Lane, Joe E. Brown, Ellen Gadbury, Carol Keithley, Kathy Sullivan, Dale Slater, and Bruce Pillow.

Yearbook is also CANNON

The most exciting office to be in this year is the Cannon Office. In this room the students, under the guidance of Mr. Tresslar and Miss Jones, go to work planning the weekly newspaper and the yearbook. The students get a first hand look at how a publication office is run.

The students, along with the teachers, are dedicated to achieve the output of these two publications.

Language clubs go for fancy foreign food

German Club started the year with a car wash to raise money. They then made plans to visit Milwaukee, Wisconsin. On the way to their destination, they stayed in Chicago overnight, bought tokens, and visited German shops. Hotels, delicious food, and a special German church service added to their memorable experience.

French Club had a grand time preparing French food and dishes for the public at the International house. They also dined at LaTour.

Another feature of the French Club year was a Tasting Bee held November 17. Members prepared food according to their favorite French recipes and offered a taste to visitors at the bee.

Spanish Club members had a taco party which included all foreign language students. It turned out to be a success and a lot of fun. Deluxe cooking apparently is the appetite a appeaser of foreign language buffs.

Two plus two equals XYZ

The XYZ Club was very busy this year. To start the year they began money-making projects. In September they had a car wash, then they sold booster buttons which said, "Right on Titans." They were raising the money so they could go to a Math convention.

In January they held a Math Exposition in the Stuart Tower. Many students taking math classes made a project pertaining to the subject. After being on display, the projects were judged by selected teachers.

Many outside activities the group did included a Christmas Party and a trip to Kings Island.

Sponsors of the group are Mrs. Madora Walker and Mrs. Marilyn Hoffman.

To end the year they gave away math awards to all the outstanding math students.

Art Club's old—but still going strong

One of the oldest clubs at Tech is the Art Club. This year they did something really special for the whole school to enjoy.

In December the group started a project of painting a mural. It is located at the west end of Stuart Hall on the third floor. Each student drew a picture of his ideas; then the club voted on the drawing that they liked best.

Everyone in the club helped to create the painting.

They had a pizza party so all the members could get acquainted, and they also went on tours to neighboring colleges and museums.

Pupils must have a B average to get in the club and have interest in all types of art.

Paul Sinclair, who is in his first year as a sponsor, said that he is really proud of the club. "They really know how to express their ideas to the rest of the group."

Committee digs human relations

Human Relations Council has active students with good appetites. A Christmas breakfast brightened up the season for them and candy was the item they sold to raise funds.

To fire up the interest of freshmen who would be coming to Tech, the members of Human Relations Council conducted tours during the spring for three days.

In memory of Martin Luther King, members showed their spirit. The sell-out January 15 and 16 of Martin Luther King medallions and keychains was an enthusiastic accomplishment in the black leader's honor.

To top the year off, Human Relations Council looked forward to a Spring banquet and a visit to the Indiana Repertory Theatre to see a delightful, spicy play. Last came their own maneuvers to have a film shown here for students.

Exploratory Teachers 'psych out' pupils

After eleven years of going to school, how does it feel to face the class from the other side of the teacher's desk? Tech pupils spent part of the day at neighboring schools finding out.

They enrolled in Exploratory Teaching, an opportunity to be a teacher in a real classroom for credit as well as experience. Some may now choose teaching as a career.

Future Educators try tutoring, visiting

Future Educators of America started the school year with 17 members with a new president, Charlotte Dimmitt and sponsor Mrs. Joan Brown.

Club members began tutoring third and fourth graders at Westminster Presbyterian Church. The project was designed to help children develop their skills in learning the basis of math and English.

On October 15 the club made their first trip to the Indiano School for the Blind. In December members visited Sarah's Nursing Home to liven up the Christmas spirit for the senior citizens by singing Christmas songs. Afterwards there was a party at Mrs. Brown's home.

Plans for the rest of the school year were a visit to the Deaf School, a money-making project of having a couple of car washes, the State Convention, and a picnic at Eagle Creek State Park. The main part of FEA is to introduce members to the field of teaching, whether it is to be their endeavor in life, or not.

Key Club finds key to success in '76

Key Club members once again drove themselves to do the best job they could in service for others.

Riding in a Bike-a-Thon helped raise funds for diabetes patients.

The guys sold peanuts, and the girls joined them selling Bicentennial license plates to build up the funds in their treasury.

Sponsor Arnold Lehman and members provided the booms and dazzles of fireworks for Homecoming, as is their annual custom. Planning the events took much time and patience.

Buying corsages for candidates and roses for the Homecoming queen were among the pleasant tasks that the Key Club performed for Homecoming.

During the Christmas season members were busy ringing bells for the Salvation Army. They also gathered "Toys for Tots" and distributed posters for Christmas seals.

They sponsored food and donation drives, gym clean-ups, and recreational programs on Saturday, the mixture for Key Club was fun and concerned involvements which made the outcome an outstanding success.

WITH SAO IN CHARGE, ice skating is a challenging sport for all to enjoy with smiles spread from sparkling eyes to shining skates.

DEBBIE HOOD, Teresa Jones, and Bonnie Thompson tumble in a heap of mittens and ice-skates.

Slick year for SAO brings heaps of fun

Getting involved and expressing ideas are two of the main purposes of the SAO. Whose ideas? Yours, of course!

SAO went as a group to participate in the March of Dimes Super-Walk. After the walk the tired trotters retired to Dave and Debbie Lewis's house for a cookout.

One of the continuing projects throughout the year was the Woodruff Cleanup on Saturdays, which was always followed by a free lunch at Burger Chef.

On November 14, after Open House, an Ice Skating party took place at Ellenberger Park. This, too, was sponsored by the SAO.

The big project of the year was a campaign to raise money for a flagpole to hold our new garrison flag.

This year's officers were Bonnie Thompson, president; Teresa Jones, vice-president; Dave Lewis, secretary; Debbie Lewis, treasurer; and Rex Mindach sergeant-at-arms.

If you'd like to become involved or have an idea to express, the club has meetings every week. Attend three meetings or spend six hours on a club project, and you're in.

Service Club started out the year with a big welcoming party for all the new members who joined this past year.

Old members sponsored and provided all the pastries and snacks for the party.

In addition, all members, old and new, were eligible to vote for officers.

Held later was the formal candlelight installation of the elected officers.

Service is exactly what this club was active in. When Thanksgiving came around, members participated in providing food for a needy family. Also, Service Club had campus clean ups, and donated money and needed materials to worthwhile organizations.

There was a fun variety of activities in which the club members themselves got involved.

They joined Key Club for a hay ride. Then came Christmas dinner, ice skating, horseback riding, and swimming. The group sold basketball buttons to finance club projects.

Later in the year came pitch-in dinner, the Valentine Tea for teachers, College Day, and an Easter egg hunt for children's hospital. There you have it—a busy fun-filled year!

Judith McBride poses as medium for Y-Teens

Maybe you haven't heard but with President Debbie Graham, Vice president Sharon Mayo, Treasurer Shirly Hill, and Secretary Kathy Lane, the Y-Teens were really on the move this year along with the helping hand of sponsor Mary Marthin.

They kept themselves active during the Halloween season by having a seance with Judith McBride posing as medium. Who knows, maybe she conjured up Edgar Allan Poe! During the Christmas Holidays they made Christmas decorations and gave a party for the Junior Jills, a group of small girls between 6 and 12, who also are associated with the YWCA. During other months they kept very busy trying to learn how to swim—"without much success," adds Miss Marthin.

Besides all the fun activities, they've had serious moments. Speakers came in to talk with them on such things as human relations and racism.

For all you girls who have nothing to do, Y-Teens is for you; have fun and learn.

Juniors plan active year

Adorable baby pictures adorned a Christmas tree in the corridor of the Main during the holiday season. Who were these babies? None other than members of Junior Council.

The Sweetheart Dance and Talent Show was looked forward to with anticipation as Junior Council and associate members planned to sell '77 class buttons and candy to raise money for activities and future projects.

These were just a few ideas to take shape with help of the sponsors, Ann McMillan and Mrs. Joyann Middlekoff.

Junior Follies was a big hit again this year. All juniors could participate in this event and show their talent. As this is proposed to be produced every year, Junior Follies is expected to be a fun-filled, successful event.

The Junior Prom combined with the Senior Prom was a night looked forward to with excitement.

Anthropology Club visits Tincher Site, Illinois

Tech's Anthropology Club, sponsored by John Tincher, really digs artifacts. And planning trips to Tincher Site in Illinois (named after a certain club's sponsor), a buried city in Kentucky, Dickson Mounds in Illinois, and various sites here in Indiana is no small job, as Mr. Tincher and the club's members will testify.

A Shelbyville farmer's field yielded (among other things) a stone that had been shaped to resemble an animal's tooth, and had a small hole in it so that it could be worn as a piece of jewelry. Carol Cole is now the owner of this relic from the past. This first trip of the year was arranged and accompanied by Charles Kocher.

Among various activities planned, some have already been put into action. Besides the Shelbyville field trip in November, the club had a Christmas party in December. In January, a lecture by John Williams on his trip to Peru was a special highlight.

Many more trips and plans are being 'unearthed' every Wednesday at 3:15 by this stimulating and enjoyable group.

Tech hosts largest chess Tournament

Chess Club hosted the State Tournament for chess clubs from around the state. It was the largest high school tournament and possibly the largest of all chess tournaments in the country. It had an attendance of over 170 schools.

Tech's team of 22 players contended with 14 other schools around the city throughout the year. At away games they were able to use the bus, a new acquisition, to get there.

John Kern, sponsor, has been with the team for 11 years. He says he will play just about anyone and at any time, but also admits he loses frequently.

The team's top players this year were Jim Carr, Mark Cook, Robert Sargent, Joe Wiley, and Jim Surenkamp.

Hiking Club tries many new activities

Hiking Club has tried a few new activities this year including backpacking, cleaning Pogue's Run, and going on a picnic. Also John Williams, sponsor, and Frank LaFara visited Canada during the summer.

The first outing was a hike of the Ten O'Clock Treaty Line. It is a rugged cross-country hike representing the Ten O'clock Treaty Line between Yellowstone State Forest and Brown County State Park. The next trip was the backpacking trip in the Hoosier National Forest. The group that went on this trek didn't follow any trails, but were led by the experienced hiker Mr. Williams. Mike Cecil also accompanied the group on this outing. On the second day out they went through a small cave in the area before going home.

Next they cleaned Pogue's Run where it crosses Tech's campus. this was a joint project with SAO. Donald Daily also invited them to have a picnic on his farm in Southern Indiana near Madison.

Other outings were spelunking, canoeing, and tobogganing.

Photographers visit Chicago, help with film

Photography Club visited Turkey Run State Park early in the year to start their schedule of activities. The group visited Format Studios, Chicago, took a bike trip, and helped Rick Moore with his film, PERFECT EARTH. Several members also joined the outings that Hiking Club had and photographed the areas. The group was sponsored by Mike Slover. Group photo on page 97.

The Varsity Track Team did some school record setting this year, having a highly successful season. They went 9-0 in dual track meets. They won the City Track Meet, and placed second in the Sectional and the Regional, with a third place in the State.

Firsts in the city included Jerry Hill in the high and low hurdles, John Brinkley in the high jump, and Madison Miller in the 100 yard and 220 yard dashes.

School records broken were Jerry Hill's time on the high hurdles of 13.7 seconds, along with a 19.4 seconds record on the low hurdles. John Brinkley, jumped 6'6 $\frac{1}{4}$ " in the high jump, setting a school record, and the 880 relay team of Madison Miller, John Akers, John Smith and Jerry Hill set a school record.

Jerry Hill also placed first in the high and low hurdles. Madison Miller placed 4th in the 220 yard dash and the 880 relay team placed 2nd, all in the State Track Meet. All state participants will return except John Akers of the relay team.

Freshmen show triumphant track season

This year's Freshman Track Team had one of its best seasons ever. Assistant Coach John Hall, returning after being out last season because of sickness, and coach Don Rabinsan put their heads together bringing about an undefeated season, along with a city championship. The team shows at least twelve potential varsity men. Records broken during the season were Harald Simman's time of 15.1 seconds on the hurdles, while the half mile relay team broke a school record with a time of 1 minute-35.7 seconds.

The reserve squad had a 4 and 1 record, losing only to Kakama, in a close meet. Reserve track teams aren't really a separate team as they are in other sports, but instead, a reserve squad consists of freshmen showing the ability for more competition, and for men not competing in varsity meets. Records are not kept in reserve competition, also no city track meets or invitationals are planned for reserve teams either. The outlook for the '76 season looks favorable.

ANNY MARTIN works hard to get the lead over the last hurdle.

"The team next year will be one of the best Tech will ever have," Coach Susan Jahnke was quoted in talking about this year's Girls' Track Team. They had a 5 win-2 loss season. The team was extremely young as it consisted of almost all freshmen and sophomores.

The success of the squad showed as six girls went to the Regional. Janet Allen, a freshman, ran the 880-yard dash. Anny Martin, a junior, ran the hurdles. Ada Johnson, Roselyn Norris, Loleta Brinkely and Lovie Sykes made up the 880-yard dash relay team, which placed first in the Sectional with a time of 1:49 which also set a record. Lovie Sykes also competed in the Regional in the high jump. The team placed 6th in the City Track Meet and 7th in the Sectional.

Golfers work on attitude, winning form

"Chargin'" that was the familiar phrase which came from the 1975 golf team under the coaching of Jay Kleine. "Chargin'" came about whenever a golfer on the team performed a creditable task on the golf course.

The golf team turned out an 8-13-1 season. They have lost members because of graduation. Tim Ray, Dave Heaton, and Phil Cook graduated in January, 1976. Those three will miss out on future plans of the Tech Invitational in which many local schools from the inner-city will participate.

Golfers at Tech are starting to develop a tradition for future golfers, but there is always a need for more interested team-members. Athletes who are looking for something to do over the summer should look toward golf, and help Tech build a winning team.

—Late start + (desire + hustle) = victory

The Varsity Baseball Team gave the city a lesson this year "How to Play Baseball in the Last 3 Weeks of a Season."

Getting off to a slow start, this year's team found a hot wire and started producing at the end of the season.

Coach Ivan Moreman felt the team's attitude, desire, and hustle improved more than in any other team he had ever coached before.

In regular season the team had a 6-14 record, but in the Sectional they turned that around and went to the Semi-final. The team also had many close losses, four of them by only one point.

The team lost only three starting players; everyone else will return.

Coach Moreman had praise for the whole team feeling it was a team's effort, rather than one man's.

THIRD ROW: Dove George, coach; Tom Collins, Tony Corver, Robert Goode, Avery Johnson, Morlin Horris, Lorry Boffo, Dorryle Toles.

The Reserve Baseball Team had a disappointing season this year, winning a mere five games compared to twelve losses.

Coach Dave George felt inexperience hurt his squad more than anything else.

They played many squads which consisted of almost all junior players, compared to the 12 freshmen and 5 sophomores on the Titan squad. Coach George felt two of the most exciting games of the season were against Cathedral and Washington. In the Cathedral game, which they won 12-5, the Greenclads collected 10 hits and committed no errors. Larry Baffa was the winning pitcher, pitching an entire game which included 6 strikeouts, for the first time in his high school career.

Tim Flanigan delivered a triple to the Irish while Bob Bruce threw in two doubles and a walk.

Against Washington, with the score 7-5, Washington, Coach George protested a triple and won the appeal, putting a spark in his players who ended up winning the game 8-7.

The Girls' Tennis Team had a new experience this past season, going through their second year of city-wide competition. They competed in 12 matches this year compared to 3 last season. Coach Bea Harding felt it was a season of learning how to handle competition, improving technique, and applying new strategy. The team showed some weaknesses such as not going to the net enough. Coach Harding stressed serves throughout the season.

In the City Tourney Melody Middleton and Pat Wilson both went one round, while in the Sectional Melody Middleton and Sally Gessner combined as a doubles team and moved to the semifinals before losing. Wilson also was chosen MVP, winning 8 of 12 matches.

The team loses Jackie McCall and Pat Wilson. Sally Gessner who now has one year under her belt will return. Barb Taube, Lisa Cooper, and Melody Middleton, all singles players, return.

Racketmen arrive over rough road

Located around the intersection of 16th Street and Tuxedo are the Brookside Park tennis courts. If you had happened to stroll by there this past spring, you might have spotted Joe Philips or Pat Amato swinging a racket around. They weren't swatting flies; they were playing tennis.

This year's Titan team had Joe Philips paying number one man. Dennis Hicks-Tim Fuller played number one doubles team. Lack of experience seemed to bring the Titans under, against opponents who showed outstanding experience. Volleying could have been better, but all in all, the team did show a creditable season, finishing with an 8-4 record.

One of the closer matches was against Manual with Joe Philips and John Surenkamp playing numbers one and two respectively. They lost their matches. The other three matches had to come through, and they did, the doubles team of Hicks-Fuller, pulling them through on the last match.

Frustrating football season ends 5-5

"We finally started playing the last three games of the season, the way we should've played all year," said Coach Willie Martin of the 1975 Varsity Football Team. This year's team finished the season with a 5-5 record. Coach Martin felt the defense contributed much to the team this year as they were on the field almost 75 percent of the time. One problem was a practically all new offensive line. But a veteran backfield of Kenny Lee, Jerry Hill and John Brinkley, with Greg Miller quarterbacking, worked hard to overcome opponents' defense.

Jerry Hill led the team in scoring with 58 points. (Hill missed three games during the season.) Lee followed with 56 points. In the tackling department Alan Miller led the team for the second season with 85 tackles and 62 assists, almost tripling the closest in statistics.

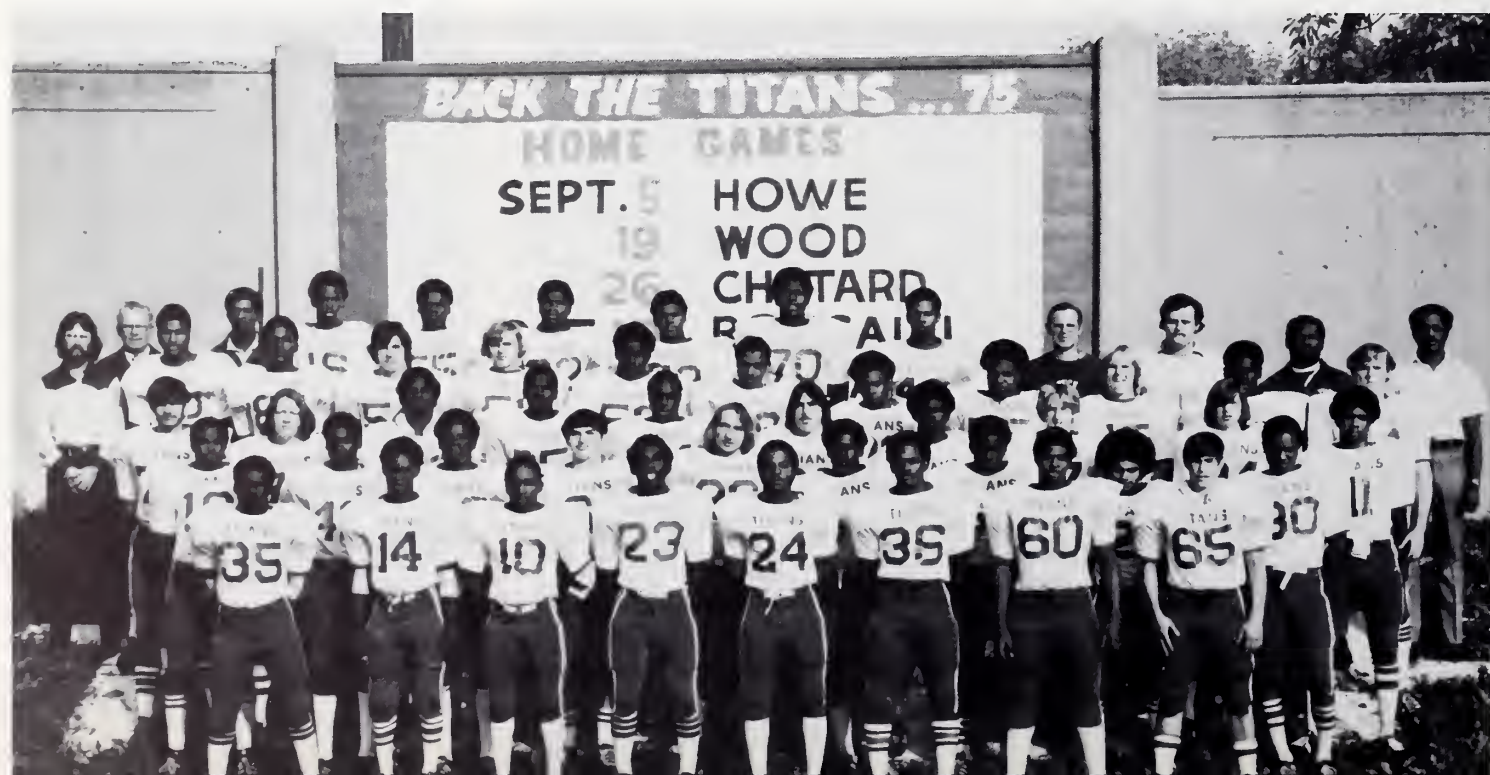

One of the closest games of the year was the first against Cathedral, which the Titans won 8-7. Cathedral scored first on a hard-hitting drive after blocking Roger Rebennack's punt. Then the Titans went into action, moving to the 1-yard line where Jerry Hill went over for the score. Hill then went in for the 2-point conversion. The Titans held on and won after rain fell on the two teams, slowing the action.

JERRY HILL leaves the opposition in the shade as he carries the ball for the Titans. "No sweat!" says Hill.

Parochial schools bring reserves defeat

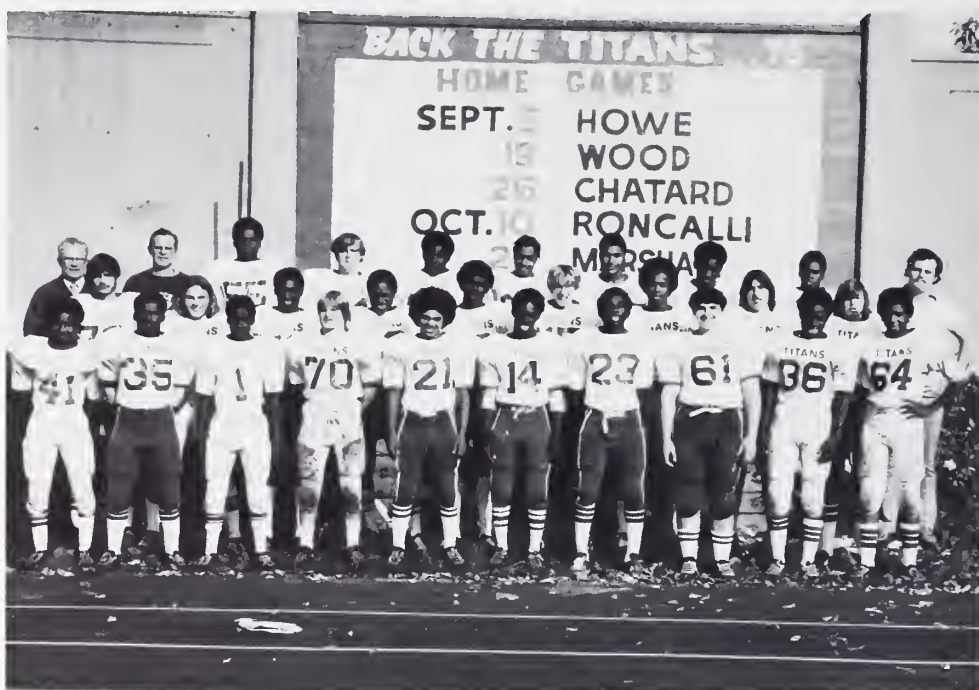

Under the direction of coaches Mel Bowers and Francis Knue, the reserve squad had a 5-4 season, losing all four games to parochial schools. Three of the losses were by 2 points. They did win their three last contests, giving them a winning balance.

The Celtic Green Gods had a strong defense, backed up by a brilliant passing attack under the quarterbacking of John Gore with 10 touchdown passes. On the receiving end of most of those passes was Jackie Thomas.

"A winning team," says Coach Mel Bowers, "consists of strong desire to win, mixed with a good attitude, strong fundamental football, and a team effort."

Coach Francis Knue said about his defensive squad, "I'm never satisfied on the job of the defense, unless the score for our opponents is zero. If you have a good defense, you should go with it."

Probably the best game, the last game of the season, was against Perry Meridian. Terry Pritchard crossed the line three times, Gary Miller having one touchdown and Jackie Thomas finding pay dirt one time, too. The final score 38-0.

Winning last 5 turns frosh season around

THE FRESHMEN hustle for the ball, wherever it is.

Seasons change, leaves fall, and a new flock of freshman footballers comes around, adding new prospects for varsity on the roster. Picking a team from all those anxious, rarin'-to-go boys is no easy job. But after each boy is checked out a team surfaces from those faces.

Under the direction of John Hurrle and Rex Marshall, this year the freshman team had a 7-3 record. Strong points showed in an offense, which moved the ball well. Running and scoring of Antonio Rudolph were outstanding. He had 44 points for the season. Ed Cushinberry followed with 32 points. Other outstanding players were Armond Patterson, Ron Johnson, and Calvin Lee showing varsity potential.

The team did win its last five games with morale picking up as the season continued. Against tough Perry Meridian the Greenclads showed the will to win can triumph; they won 14-0. Another outstanding game was against Broad Ripple. The Titans won 28-0.

Young varsity runners building fast

The Cross Country team this year finished first above .500 for the season, running with a very young team of four sophomores, one junior and one senior.

James Trotter, the captain of the team and also the MVP, was the only junior on the squad. James Adams, Nicky Edwards, Herb Alston, and Willie Strong, were all sophomores and Lettermen returning for next year. The Varsity loses Brad Witsman, who was the only senior on the squad.

The Varsity improved throughout the season and gained valuable experience with a climax of placing second in the city at the end of the season. Lack of experience did hurt the team.

Coach Bruce McGeath felt the team has potential for next year. "With the returning squad we'll have, we should turn out a highly competitive season—with a little work!"

Frosh squad dominates invitationals and city

The Reserve squad served time with a season of learning this year. Tap runners for the Reserves were Fred Beard, Kenneth Hendersan and Mike Webb.

These three showed tap quality to make next year's varsity squad a tough team. Mike was the top runner for the Reserves in the City Cross Country Meet finishing in twelfth place. As a whole, the team finished third in the city.

The frosh squad had a dominating season placing first in the Washington and Columbus invitationals and winning the City Championship.

All home meets for Varsity, Reserve, and Freshman squads are run at Brookside Park, while other meets are held throughout city parks and golf courses.

Ray Robinson, Tom Dardin, James Bell, and Richard Johnson also proved to be the tougher of many opponents. With these and other dedicated wrestlers making up the varsity team, coach John Hurrle wrapped up another successful season. Engram had a 23-0 record going into Regionals.

Coach Hurrle felt with the new facility for next year in comparison to the facility of this year, the only step to take is still up!

The team will lose Kenny Lee, Engram and Johnson, but has other talented wrestlers to fill in.

The Reserve Team showed they are ready to follow in the footsteps of other great Tech wrestlers. In the city meet Glen Smith, James Buckley, and Ron Clark placed first; also in the city the team placed second. The team shows much potential for next year as it consisted of half reserve and half freshmen, who would prove valuable.

Pin and win, through Freshman season

Our Freshman squad, coached by Francis Knue, showed that they refuse to be pinned by anyone else by charting a 6-2 record for the regular season, taking advantage of coach Knue's offer of a Coke to anyone who pinned his opponent.

Gerald Fowlkes, Antonio Rudolph and Kevin Edwards all placed first in the city championship. The freshmen made a strong show in city competition by grabbing 9 places. Two freshmen placed in the Reserve City Tournament while seven grabbed frosh spots. With a third place in the city competition it appears that the freshman grapplers were not pushed around.

POWER VOLLEYBALL what is that?

Power volleyball is the way that volleyball is played in the high schools today. Power volleyball is a much more difficult way of officiating. Many judgment calls are forced throughout the contest.

Coach Mary Lou Manka felt this year's team had a good season even though their record showed otherwise. It was a season of building, as next year's team will have five returning letterwomen. They lost two seniors, Helen O'Neal, and Pam Stewart.

If all the girls return and put work into the sport, we should have a highly competitive team.

A Reserve Team was in action for the first time, also, this season. It gave the girls a chance to get experience and get ready for next year. Expenses were a problem for the Reserve Team, too.

With the addition of the Reserve Volleyball Team, it looks as though the girls' sports are really picking up!

Girls Bring Semistate Crown To Tech

In the first year of a Girls Basketball State Tournament our team won the semistate at Ben Davis by conquering Mt. Vernon. "The season was great," were the feelings of coach Sue Jahnke. Some of the top players for the team were Benita Kennedy and Maxine Carlis, who were guards and excellent outside shooters. Leslie Greene, Ada Johnson, Helen O'Neal and Bernice Trotter combined with the two guards to make an unstoppable running attack. The team took advantage of the fast break to wear down many opponents. Also the outside shooting broke up many zone defenses. The team was one of the tallest teams around, an asset for the team. Defensively, the team used a zone defense mixed with switching off and basic man-to-man principles. With Indianapolis being one of the toughest areas in the state we know Tech has to be one of the best.

Number 1 ranking marks successful year

Perhaps you saw coach Ernie Cline off the bench, or maybe it was George Gilbert letting a long pass fly, only to have Antonio Martin on the receiving end to drop it in for two points. Whatever you saw, it was the 1975-76 Varsity Basketball Team. The team showed for the third year in a row that they were one of the tougher teams in the state, having a number one ranking for a majority of the season. But in their bid for their third city crown the Greenclads were outdone by a classy Broad Ripple crew in an overtime contest in which Zellie Allen dropped a free throw with five seconds to go to put it in overtime where Ripple went on to win.

Antonio Martin led the team with a 24.3 scoring average and a 13.6 rebounding average. George Gilbert averaged 15.1 in the scoring column and somewhere around 7 assists a game. George Chatman, perhaps the most improved player on the team, clicked on a 11.3 average while holding a 10.9 rebounding average.

One of the most exciting games was against Northwest in which the Titans had to go into overtime after holding off a wild comeback by Northwest; the Titans won by an 84-81 count.

The team loses its entire starting lineup along with three substitutes. Returning will be three to four lettermen.

Taking into account that the Titans held a 12-0 record before their loss to Ripple, and the fact that they were starting to pick up at the close of the season, coach Cline felt the team stood a strong chance in the Sectionals.

GEORGE GILBERT flies into the crowd, or was it a shooting star.

ANTONIO MARTIN, up for another rebound.

GEORGE GILBERT uses his jumper for a quick score.

JOHN BRINKLEY lays it in far two.

A TEAM that plays together, stays together.

DON TURNER proves no one will stop him.

GEORGE CHATMAN fights for the boards.

Reserves struggle through tough season

The purpose of the Reserve squad is to get experience for varsity play. Coach Ed McDowell's team did exactly that. With six juniors and six sophomores making up the team they gained valuable experience. Although Coach McDowell felt the team should have produced more, along with the "off and on" basketball play, he felt they had a pretty good season. The team started with a 5-1 record before lacking desire hurt them.

McDowell felt that Greg Brooks appeared as the most improved player on the squad and had much praise for Larry Griffin who led the team in scoring.

With six juniors and some sophomores competing to move up to varsity, the reserves should pretty well answer the call.

TED FOX puts it up for two with o splendid jump shot.

GREG BROOKS controls the tip-off.

Frosh power, sure ain't sour

ABOVE: Ed Thomas sets it up for another successful play. MIDDLE: Eric Greene skies to score two more. RIGHT: Brent Fields prepares to put the move on his Southport opponent.

Ending with a regular season record of 15 wins and 3 losses this year was the tally for the Freshman Basketball Team coached by Dave George. Leading in scoring for the freshman squad were Eric Greene and Paul Allen; Greene also averaged 13 rebounds a game.

The team showed great abilities, as in the Stoney Brook game when they trailed by five points with thirty seconds remaining, only to win by a twelve point advantage in overtime. Coach George felt the team had a strong defensive game and also a well disciplined offense. "The group was the best group of boys to coach I've ever had," were the feelings of George at season end.

C-H-E-E-R-L-E-A-D-E-R-S, Cheerleaders, Cheerleaders, ours are the best. That wasn't a chant heard by the 1975-76 Cheerleading squads, but they had many chants that brought about the spirit of Tech High School. The cheerleaders participated in many of their own activities this year, starting with a candle sale to raise money for new Varsity and Reserve outfits. Following this the cheerleaders were hostesses for Varsity Football and Basketball nights. Other small things the girls did to boost spirit were to make cakes, cookies and candy for the basketball players.

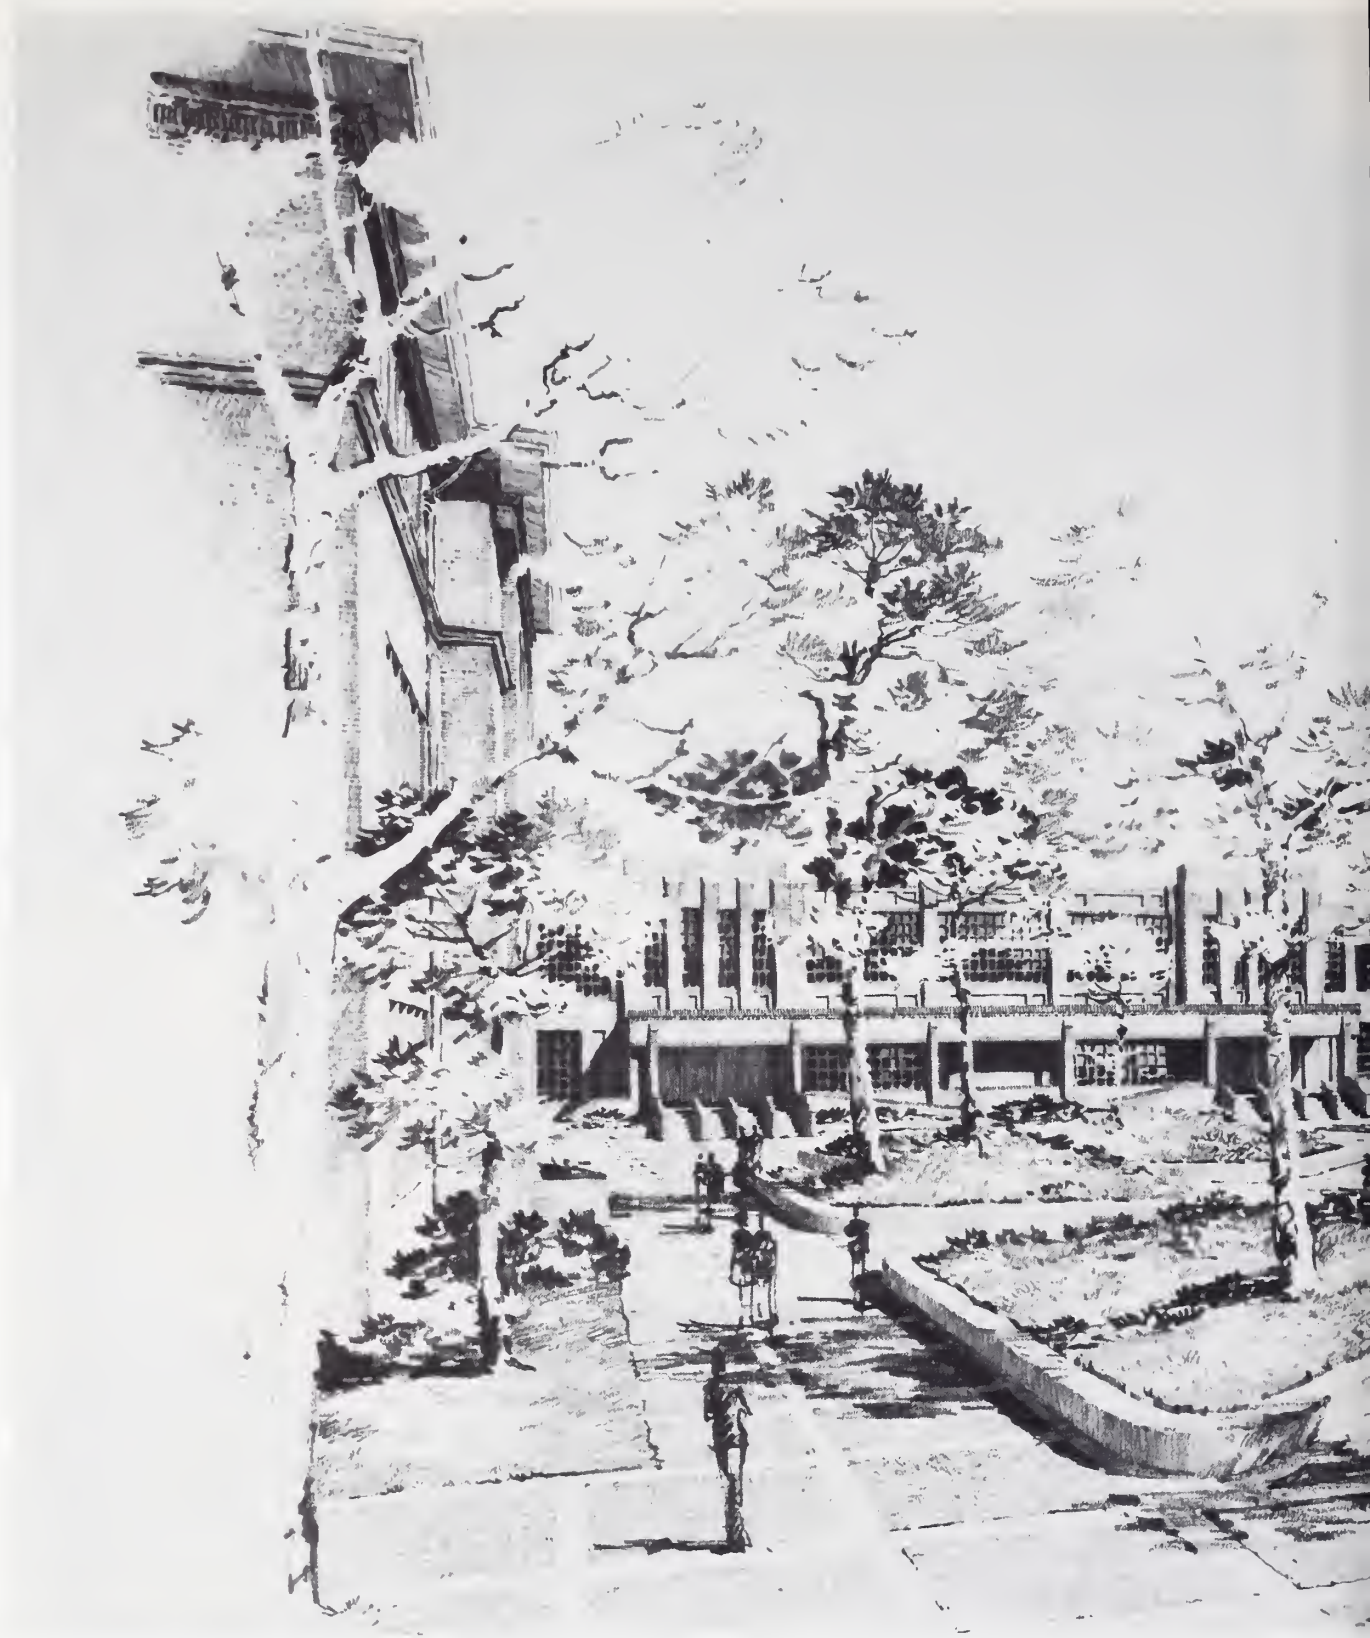

JAY MARCUM shows her spirit.

DIANE CORNFORTH, Valerie McNew, Alex Hong, and Potrice Miller say cheese during our national anthem.

Since the Bicentennial celebrates the victory of a revolutionary cause, it becomes necessary to elucidate when civil war within a country becomes justifiable. Studying the ancient Succession Myths of primitive cultures we read that one order may be overthrown by another when power, authority, and intelligence are on the side of the new. Whether it is the accession of Marduk in the Babylonian Enuma Elis, Osiris in the Egyptian Book of the Dead, Jahweh in the Palestinian Old Testament, or Zeus in the Greek Theogony by Hesiod all promote law and order by allowing creativity and minimizing the repression of the darker instincts of life. It is in allowing and fostering this freedom that a government sustains its control over the people; but, tamper with a people's liberty (which causes repressions of animal instincts) and they will quite naturally revolt against the 'unchanging' order. Thus the secret to good government is orderly change; but change there must be; and what feeds change is benevolent strife. Without conflict there is no progression. What tolerates benevolent conflict is intelligence and wisdom mated with authority and power. The energies of youth represent power; the procedural forms of bureaucracies the authority; and genuine intellectual skills (not degrees from Universities) the intelligence. With these three forces of violence behind a revolutionary cause, no opposition can persevere. In honor of our successful revolution we dedicate the following two specimens of ancient and modern learning:

Οὐκ ἄρα μόνον ἦν Ἐρίδων γένος, ἀλλ' ἐπὶ γαῖαν εἰσὶ δῶα· τὴν μὲν κεν ἐπαινῆσαι νοήσας, ἣ δ' ἐπιμωμητή· διὰ δ' ἀνδιχα θυμὸν ἔχουσιν...
 τὴν δ' ἑτέρην προτέρην μὲν ἐγείνατο Νύξ ἑρεβεννή, θῆκε δέ μιν Κρονίδης ὑψίζυγος, αἰθέρι ναίων, γαίης ἐν ῥίζησι, καὶ ἀνδράσι πολλὸν ἀμείνω·
 ἦτε καὶ ἀπάλαμόν περ ὁμῶς ἐπὶ ἔργον ἐγείρεν.

Hesiod Works and Days (lines 11-20)

Cantor's Lemma: Let f_0, f_1, f_2, \dots be any countable sequence of functions such that each f_i maps the natural numbers into $\{0,1\}$. There is a function f mapping the natural numbers into $\{0,1\}$ that is not equal to any of the f_i .

Proof

Define $f(1) = 1 - f_1(1)$. Then $f(1) \neq f_1(1)$. So

$f \neq f_1$ for every 1.
